

Main theme of the EFPE 2020 online “Trusted Economy”

Topic

Overview of changes on the eID and trust services market in 2020: Poland and Europe

- How did the eID and trust services market react to the COVID-19 situation, how these tools contributed to the rushed digital transition for hundreds of thousands of people and companies. Which regulatory, technological and business changes will remain with us for good? The perspective for Poland and selected international markets.

“Trusted economy” in practice

- The most interesting and representative examples of implementation of eID and trust services in selected industries – banking, leasing, retail, public administration and others.

Tools of “Trusted economy”

- Overview of the most important trends and specific solutions for eID tools and trust services – new types of electronic signatures, designed and implemented eDelivery solutions, growing importance of validation of trust services, video-onboarding, etc.

Looking ahead - perspectives for the development of eID and trust services

- Economic, legal, technological aspects and links with public administration - which of these elements will support, and which will hinder the development of the market in the Polish and European perspective – online interviews with experts and debates with market participants and the conference audience.